Plans, Upgrades, and Downgrades

Subscriptions and Refunds

Fictional training documentation for a local RAG demonstration.

Plan overview

CloudDesk subscriptions have plan-specific limits and features. The account's Billing page is the authoritative place to view the current plan, renewal date, and available changes.

Upgrade

An owner or billing administrator can open Settings > Billing > Plan, compare available plans, and select Upgrade. The confirmation screen shows any price or proration information before the change is confirmed. Customers should review that screen before accepting.

Downgrade

A downgrade may reduce feature access or usage limits. Review the plan comparison and any effective date shown during the change flow. Do not promise a specific effective date unless the account screen confirms it.

Permissions

Members without billing permissions may be able to use the product but cannot change the subscription. They should ask the organization owner or billing administrator.

Failed plan change

If a plan change fails, record the displayed error, current plan, intended plan, and organization name. Check whether the account has an unresolved payment or permission issue before escalating.

Support guidance

Never invent prices, discounts, or plan limits. Use the customer's current Billing page or approved pricing documentation. If those details are not available in the support knowledge base, state that the account-specific information needs checking.
